Revision sessions

This year, Finham Park school is attempting a slightly different approach to revision sessions to avoid several subjects clashing. Each subject has a block of time to hold revision sessions during which no other sessions will be on. An outline of these blocks is included below: students can get more information from their subject teachers.

Students will be offered science revision workshops by invitation and will not clash with other subjects – please see your child’s science teacher for more information.

The art department are not offering specific sessions but students are welcome to drop-in whenever they are available to complete work.
